Idea 3

ICT-ENABLED COACHING
While still relatively untested relative to person-to-person-based approaches, the use of mobile phones and other technologies, as well as the application of artificial intelligence to augment parent coaching, is a promising area for exploration.

These approaches allow for large-scale reach at relatively low cost and allow caregivers more anonymity to address some sensitive topics.